FOREWORD

Millions of children in every region around the world suffer daily from violence, exploitation and abuse. An estimated two million children and adolescents worldwide are exploited in prostitution and pornography or trafficked for sexual purposes. Millions more are engaged in forced labour. The consequences of these serious child rights violations could last a lifetime.

Growing up in conflict, hundreds of thousands of children continue to be used by armed forces and groups in diverse roles that all put them at great risk—including as combatants, human shields, spies, porters, messengers, cooks, or for sexual purposes. Separated from their families and sent to the frontline, they experience, and at times are forced to commit, grave violations.

Poverty, deprivation of a protective family environment, lack of access to education, armed conflict, weak legal protection for girls and boys, and the lack of adequate birth registration systems and other protective mechanisms are some of the root causes of these serious child rights violations.

The Convention on the Rights of the Child and its first two Optional Protocols—on the involvement of children in armed conflict and on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography—provide binding standards for strong protection for children which have a positive impact on their lives. An increasing number of countries have abolished recruitment of persons below the age of 18 years for use in armed conflict and criminalized the use of children in armed conflict in national legislation. Likewise, many countries have criminalized the sale of children, and the exploitation of children in prostitution and pornography, introduced legal standards for the protection of child victims in criminal justice proceedings and the recognition of their right to seek compensation. These important standards have laid the basis for international cooperation to fight impunity within and across borders.

Hence, ratification and effective implementation of the Protocols establish the foundation for safeguarding children's rights and their protection from violence, abuse and exploitation including in situations of armed conflict.

For this reason, the Secretary-General, supported by our Offices and Agencies, the Special Rapporteur on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography,

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

19 APRIL 2013

the Committee on the Rights of the Child and civil society partners, launched in May 2010 a global campaign aimed at the universal ratification and effective implementation of the first two Optional Protocols. Since then, significant progress has been made: twenty-six more States have ratified the Optional Protocol on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography, making a total number of 163 States parties; and nineteen States have ratified the Optional Protocol on the Involvement of Children in Armed Conflict, resulting to date in a total of 151 ratifications.

We invite all Member States to participate in this year's Treaty Event, organized on the occasion of the high-level segment of the General Assembly. We strongly encourage States to use the Event to advance the universal ratification and effective application of these important treaties.

Member States are also encouraged to ratify a new third Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on a Communications Procedure, which has already been ratified by six States parties and signed by thirty-six. Four more ratifications are required before this third instrument will enter into force. The Protocol will allow children to submit individual communications on the violations of their rights to the Committee on the Rights of the Child.

Accession, or signature followed by ratification, supported by effective implementation of the three Protocols will provide a comprehensive system of protection for all children, including those in the most vulnerable situations. We call on all Member States to join our efforts to make the world a safer place for children.

Excellency,

As the depositary of more than 550 multilateral treaties, I have the honour to refer to the United Nations Treaty Event. The 2013 Treaty Event will be held from 24 to 26 September and from 30 September to 1 October 2013 at the United Nations Headquarters in New York.

The opening of the Treaty Event will coincide with the General Debate of the 68th session of the General Assembly, which opens on 24 September 2013. The Treaty Event has proven to be an effective means for promoting wider participation of States in the multilateral treaty framework and thereby fostering the rule of law at the international level. Since 2000, annual Treaty Events have attracted a total of 1,765 treaty actions. Today, many treaties enjoy broad participation, but most fall short of the goal of universal participation. I therefore ask you to join efforts to advance the universal application of the framework of internationally agreed-upon norms and standards. Universal participation and implementation of treaties remains an ambitious yet important goal, requiring the combined efforts of all States.

The Treaty Event provides a distinct opportunity for States to fulfil their pledges, made in national and international forums, to sign on to, and particularly to ratify and adhere to, multilateral treaties deposited with me.

I wish to extend this invitation to you to make use of the 2013 Treaty Event by signing treaties and by depositing instruments of ratification or accession to those treaties for which I act as the depositary, thus contributing to the goal of universal participation. Treaties covering the areas of human rights, rights of the child, refugees and stateless persons, international trade, terrorism, criminal matters, law of the sea, outer space, disarmament and privileges and immunities and the safety of United Nations personnel will be highlighted at this year's Event. A list of the highlighted treaties is enclosed with this letter; a general list of the treaties deposited with me is available on the website of the Treaty Section of the Office of Legal Affairs (<http://treaties.un.org>).

REFERENCE:

12 JUNE 2013

If you wish to join me at the 2013 Treaty Event, kindly inform me by 6 September 2013 of your intention to sign, ratify or accede to any of the treaties of which I am the depositary, so that the necessary arrangements can be made.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

BAN KI-MOON

Excellency,

I have the honour to refer to the Secretary-General's letter of invitation addressed to Heads of State and Government to participate in this year's Treaty Event which will be held from 24 to 26 September and 30 September to 1 October on the ground floor of the North Lawn Building at the United Nations Headquarters in New York during the general debate of the sixty-eighth session of the General Assembly.

The Treaty Event will highlight treaties deposited with the Secretary General that cover areas of global concern, including human rights, rights of the child, refugees and stateless persons, international trade, terrorism, criminal matters, law of the sea, outer space, disarmament and privileges and immunities and the safety of United Nations personnel. The Event may be used to sign and ratify or accede to any treaty for which the Secretary-General acts as depositary. The Treaty Section of the Office of Legal Affairs will be publishing a booklet entitled 2013 Treaty Event: Towards Universal Participation and Implementation which will include lists of the treaties which are (i) highlighted by the Secretary-General for the Event; (ii) close to achieving universal participation; (iii) remain open for signature; as well as (iv) the complete list of multi-lateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General.

It is noted that, consistent with the rules of international law and the practice of the Secretary-General as depositary of multilateral treaties, a Head of State or Government or a Minister of Foreign Affairs does not require full powers to execute a treaty action in person. Furthermore, full powers are not required in cases where an instrument conferring general full powers has been issued to a designated person and has been deposited with the Secretary-General in advance.

However, where an action, such as a signature, relating to a treaty deposited with the Secretary-General is to be undertaken by a person other than the Head of State or Government or the Minister of Foreign Affairs, duly executed full powers are necessary.

The Secretary-General's requirements for a valid instrument of full powers must include the following:

- Title of the treaty
- Full name and title of the person duly authorized to sign the treaty concerned
- Date and place of signature; and
- Signature of the Head of State, Head of Government or Foreign Minister Instruments of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession must also be issued and signed by one of the above three authorities, and should include all declarations and reservations related thereto. Full powers and instruments of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession should be submitted for verification to the Treaty Section well in advance of the intended date of the relevant treaty action. Further information on full powers and instruments of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession can be obtained from the Treaty Handbook. This document and other publications of the Treaty Section are available in the United Nations Treaty Collection on the website at <http://treaties.un.org>.

Advice before 6 September 2013 on your Government's intention to sign, ratify or accede to any of the multilateral treaties deposited with the Secretary-General would assist us in making the necessary arrangements, including appropriate media coverage. The United Nations Treaty Collection website mentioned above provides updated information on the status of all treaties deposited with the Secretary-General. It is requested that appointments be made by contacting the Treaty Section of the Office of Legal Affairs (telephone: (+1-212) 963-5047; fax: (+1-212) 963-3693).

We look forward to your Government's participation in the 2013 Treaty Event.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

OPEN FOR SIGNATURE

The list below is of those treaties which are currently open for signature.

Simple signature (signature subject to ratification) is permitted for most multilateral treaties for a specified period of time, though some multilateral treaties remain open for signature indefinitely. By signature, the State has not expressed its consent to be bound by the treaty, which does not occur until the State ratifies, accepts or approves the treaty. Signature does mean that a State is obliged, in good faith, to refrain from acts that would defeat the object and purpose of the treaty (articles 18 of the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties of 1969).
